

Cucumber GVS18049 F1 Hybrid A Persian pickling type

Description: Strong vigorous plant. Very good yield potential. Fruits are slightly ribbed, long and cylindrical. They are glossy green in color. Fruit size averages 16-18 X 3.5 cm. Open field Beit alpha cucumber with multiple virus resistances.

Maturity: 45 days

Disease Tolerance: It resistance to PM and resistance to downy mildew, To Cucumber Mosaic virus, zucchini yellow mosaic virus, papaya ring spot virus, and watermelon mosaic virus.

Comments: This cucumber variety is a predominately female Persian pickling type, very tasty and crunchy. It produces exceptionally high yields, And is extensively grown in the Middle East, in the Open field and under Plastic tunnels. It is suitable for pickling.

